How can we help to reinforce the fact that our children are made in God's image? As the church's calendar year draws to an end, it is not surprising that the texts for today are all associated with the eternal hope of life after death. As Christians, we can all anticipate this, because Jesus sacrificially gave of Himself on the cross, so that we can have life and have it to the fullest. It is this life that we are all encouraged to ensure that our children experience here on earth, via us having healthy relationships/interactions with them. If this happens, then we may be able to help them effectively challenge the negative influences that they sometimes receive from their peers or other persons, who may want to manipulate or deceive them in getting involved in practices that are not of God.

We are therefore advised to heed the Word of God which comes to us from the gospel lesson for today, if we are truly serious about helping our children to understand what it means to maintain their identity as Christians, as people who stand up for what is right. It is in this light that Jesus in Mark 13:14-23, informed His disciples, that they will be challenged by the authorities, and will be persecuted for His sake, but in spite of this, they should never succumb to the pressures, and go against the will/intentions of God. Also, Jesus warned the disciples to not believe anyone who would come and seek to do signs and miracles and say they are the Christ. In essence therefore, Jesus was basically saying that they should not be easily swayed by the influence of their peers and the prevailing culture. Such a lesson is a vital one for our children, and so caregivers should seek to develop relationships of trust with them, so that they do not need to go outside of the home in order to find love. Such relationships according to Eric Erickson are possible because of the dependability of children on caregivers to provide love, food, nurture, warmth, and safety.

What happens in the home is therefore very important, and so if we really want to help our children to become assertive individuals who are confident in who they are, as persons made in God's image, then the home must be that place where true love can be found or realized, and a place where the child have a sense of belonging and feel valued. As Christians, therefore, let us seek to be consistent in training up our children in the way they should grow. Their spiritual and physical well being should be of great importance to us, and so we must seek always to protect them from any threat to their wellbeing. Let us teach and help our youth to be resolute in their belief, so that they can seek always to do what is right and pleasing to God, in spite of what others may say or think about them.

We extend a warm welcome to all those visiting with us today especially the members of the St. Hilda's Alumni and the Society of Radiographers Jamaica. who are worshipping with us.

Ancient words ever true

1.Holy words long preserved
For our walk in this world
They resound with God's own heart Oh, let the ancient words impart.
Words of Life, words of Hope Give us strength, help us cope
In this world, where e'er we roam Ancient words will guide us home

Chorus

*Ancient words ever true Changing me and changing you
We have come with open hearts
Oh, let the ancient words impart*

2.Holy words of our Faith Handed down to this age
Came to us through sacrifice Oh heed the faithful words of Christ
Holy words long preserved
For our walk in this world
They resound with God's own heart
Oh let the ancient words impart

Chorus

Behold He Comes

1. These are the days of Elijah,
Declaring the word of the Lord
And these are the days of Your servant Moses,
Righteousness being restored.
And though these are days of great trial,
Of famine and darkness and sword,
Still, we are the voice in the desert crying
"Prepare ye the way of the Lord!"

Chorus

*Behold He comes riding on the clouds, Shining like the sun at the trumpet call,
Lift your voice, it's the year of jubilee,
And out of Zion's hill salvation comes.*

2. These are the days of Ezekiel,
The dry bones becoming as flesh,
And these are the days of Your servant David,
Rebuilding a temple of praise.
These are the days of the harvest,
The fields are as white in Your world,
And we are the laborers in Your vineyard,
Declaring the word of the Lord!

Chorus

There's no God like Jehovah.

Did You know?

One of the roles of parents and godparents is to help and encourage the children (child), they have brought for baptism, to grow in the knowledge, reverence, love and service of Almighty God.

Quote for Reflection.

We need to find God, and he cant be found in noise and restlessness. God is the friend of silence. See how nature– tree, flowers, grass– grows in silence. See the stars, the moon and the sun, see how they move in silence. We need silence to be able to touch souls. (Mother Teresa).

BCP-page 544. Psalm 62. For God alone my soul in silence waits.
