Did you know ?

The Psalm appointed for today belongs to a category of psalms that celebrates God’s universal kingship. All of creation can rejoice because “justice and righteousness” are fundamental to the way in which God rules. Consequently, those who live consistently with the fundamental values of God’s rule can be assured of God’s favour, while those who do not can be assured of defeat – as was the case when God led God’s people out of enslavement. Under the first covenant, God’s rule was to be mediated through the Davidic king. The Church teaches that Christ returned to the Father where he now rules the world as King of all. He is the human-divine King for whom Israel longed.

Quote for reflection

“God's rule requires obedience. The real God is not morally indifferent, but permits a new public life of humane caring. New orientation is a life of disciplined response to God's will for justice.”
Walter Brueggemann in The Message of the Psalms

Question for reflection.

- How consistently am I living with Christ’s reign of justice and righteousness?
- In what ways can I promote the fundamental values of Christ’s rule?

No Monday Bible Study at 5:30 p.m, in person and online. Meeting ID 854 9239 9132 Passcode 367264.
