Did you know?

Communion anticipate a common hope for the future. The story of Jesus' ministry provides hope for a world that lives in God's love. It gives a hope that the world can be saved and will be saved through God's actions among people. The world, God affirms through Jesus, is worth saving and is worth all of God's effort to bring this salvation to fruition.

Quote for reflection

Because hope has such a revolutionary function, it is more likely that failure to hope-hopelessness- happens among the affluent, the prosperous, the successful, the employable, the competent, for whom the present system works so well. We are the ones who are likely to be seduced into taking the present political, economic, intellectual system too seriously and equating it with reality. Indeed, it is prudent to take it that way, because that is where the jobs and benefits are. The more one benefits from the rewards of the system, the more one is enraptured with the system, until it feels like the only game in town and the whole game. Our "well-offness" leads us finally to absolutize, so that we may say that "the system is the solution." The system wants us to believe that, for such belief silences criticism. It makes us consenting, docile, obedient adults. The system wants to contain all our hopes and fears, wants us to settle for the available system of rewards.

A Message for Spiritual Growth and Hope

From Rev. Canon Serrano Kitson

Hope is a pivotal ingredient in spiritual growth, as it acts as a driving force that facilitated a person to navigate the challenges and crisis of life and find meaning in adversity and persevere on their spiritual journey of faith. It provides strength and inspiration to continue growing spiritually and allows a Christian to see beyond the current circumstances of life to discern the presence of God to whom all things will ultimately find fulfillment. (Read Rom. 15:3)

For the Election of a Bishop

Almighty God, giver of every good gift: Look graciously on your Church, and so guide the minds of those who shall choose a Bishop for this Diocese, that we may receive a faithful pastor, who will care for your people and equip us for our ministries; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.
