Did you know?

Epiphany is Greek word meaning “appearance” or “coming into light.” Greeks used it of the dawning of a new day and especially to refer to the visible manifestation of a usually invisible deity. The entire season of Epiphany, which spans the time between Advent and Lent, is one of light. It begins with the star of the magi and ends with Jesus’ transfiguration into light, and on the way we hear prophetic text about the divine light dawning (Isa. 60:1-6 on Epiphany, Isa. 42:1-9 on the First Sunday after Epiphany, and Isa. 9:1-4 on the third Sunday of Epiphany). Now this light shines in the darkness (Isa. 9:2; 60:2), and why such darkness should exist at all in God’s world in a mystery Epiphany does attempt to solve. But the light we see suffices to bring us the great joy of the magi (Matt. 2:10) and to guide us in the way we must go.

Quote for reflection

“Epiphany tells us that, into the uncertainties of this life, God has spoken to us, that we are the recipients of revelation. While much remains hidden, much has been revealed. Further, our season locates God’s self-disclosure above all in the Christ event. The Magi’ heavenly light leads us to Jesus, and the divine voice at the baptism and transfiguration identifies Jesus as the Son of God. Him we should heed (Matt. 17:5).”

Message for Meditation and Reflection

Today we mark the last Sunday after the Epiphany which is celebrated as the Feast of the Transfiguration. On this day the church recalls the story of Jesus on the mountain being revealed as the divine Son of God. The transfiguration invites us to be transformed into Christlikeness and to shine God's glory in the world. The readings invite us to come, witness the glory of God and to proclaim the glorified Christ to the nations.

In the first reading Moses is commanded by God to come up to the mountain to receive the law/commandments. There he spent 40 days as the Lord spoke with him concerning the people of Israel. On the mount Moses would have experienced God's glory.

In the second reading Peter is reminding Christians that the teachings they received are true testament of Jesus Christ. He had witnessed firsthand how God revealed Godself through Jesus Christ on the mountain. Jesus was declared the beloved Son of God.

In the gospel reading, Jesus, accompanied by three of the disciples went up to the mountain where he was transfigured before them. A voice from heaven also spoke to them that, Jesus was the Son of God with whom God was well pleased. On the journey down the mountain Jesus told the disciples to wait a while before saying anything about the experience.

A useful reminder here is that Matthew is writing to an audience who did not truly believe that Jesus was the Messiah. The story of the transfiguration helps to communicate Matthew's message that Jesus was the true Son of God. It also tells of the new life that awaits Jesus beyond the cross, as well as the life that awaits those who follow Him.

Six days after Peter had confessed Jesus as the Christ, Son of the living God, Peter, James and John journeyed to the mountain with Jesus. As Jesus stood before them the glory of the Father within became obvious to the disciples who were with Him. Moses and Elijah who represents the law and the prophets appeared having had similar encounters with God on a mountain. Peter's excitement drove him to make a suggestion to build some form of shelter, perceiving that they might be on the mountain for a while.

However, a voice out of heaven interrupted him, declared Jesus Christ as the well loved Son with whom God is pleased. The disciples bowed in fear, but Jesus came and touched them and assured them that there was no need to be afraid. By this time Jesus was the only one standing with them. Jesus charges them not to say anything about what they had witnessed until he was resurrected, at which time others would be better able to grasp the meaning of the transfiguration.

Lord, I love to sing Your praises
I'm so glad You're in my life
I'm so glad You came to save us

From the earth to the cross
My debt to pay
From the cross to the grave
From the grave to the sky
Lord, I lift Your name on high

My strength is in You, Lord

Taking my sin, my cross, my shame
Raising again I bless Your name

When I run dry You fill my cup
You are my all in all
